

The next call you make could save your business.

You've seen the headlines.

Card data security breaches at high profile stores spotlight merchants' liability if sensitive cardholder data is compromised. The card associations levy fines from $100,000 to $500,000.

The best thing you can do to protect your business is call us about upgrading your point-of-sale (POS) system to the most recent version of software. We will ensure your POS does not store sensitive data prohibited by the Payment Card Industry (PCI) Data Security Standard.

And, combining PCI-compliant POS software with Mercury Payment Systems' processing provides swipe-to-settlement security for all your credit and debit card transactions. Make sure you have the end-to-end solution that will keep you out of the headlines and in business!
